

Making the Case for Individualism

By Lane Osborne

According to John Burke with BleacherReport.com you and I probably have a better looking swing than the following ten golfers which are considered by many to have the most unorthodox swings in professional golf:

1. Moe Norman
2. Jim Furyk
3. Eamon Darcy
4. Jim Thorpe
5. Ray Floyd
6. John Daly
7. Tommy Gainey
8. Arnold Palmer
9. Josh Broadway
10. Allen Doyle

However, according to statistics you and I have probably earned less than their combined 100 million in career earnings, 108 PGA Tour wins, 14 majors, 7 Web.com (formerly Nationwide) Tour wins, 48 Champions Tour wins, and countless international victories.

Despite having unconventional swings, their success in golf has led many to emulate their swings. Moe Norman's swing, for example, spawned a new school of thought several years ago and a video tutorial dubbed Natural Golf. Fair warning though: it's important to remember, that these swings are natural to these golfers, body mechanics that feel comfortable to them. It may be best to find your own swing because trying to replicate their's could be hazardous to your health.

JUSTINBOUNDZ™ BY LANE OSBORNE

"He tried to swing like Jim Furyk."

VISIT THE NEW JUSTINBOUNDZ.COM WEBSITE

POST
COMMENTS
ON OUR NEW GOLF BLOG!

Check Out Our New Features:

- Gallery of JustinBoundz panels
- Archive of past JustinBoundz articles featured in Carolinas Golf Times

WaterCreek, LLC • P.O. Box 50143 • Myrtle Beach, SC 29579
justinboundz.com • 843.365.1363